Excerpt: . demanded Seguin; I can see down to the mine, and they are not upon the plain! Aint a gwine to be, Cap. Some luck in that, I reckon. The ole fool has sent a party by tother trail. On the wrong scent--them is. Why do you think they have gone by the other trail? Why Cap, it stans for raizon. If they wur a comin ahint, some o them niggurs on tother side wud a gone back afore this to hurry em up, do ee see? Thur haint gone ne er a one, as I seed. You are right, Rube, replied Seguin, encouraged by the probability of what the other had asserted. What do you advise us? continued he, appealing to the old trapper, --whose counsel he was in the habit of seeking in all cases of similar difficulty. WalCap, it satwistified piece o...
